

Year 6 Learning Update

Friday 7th July 2023

Dear Parents and Carers,

Wow! What a week!

We hope that you enjoyed sports day, the summer fair and reading café.

Some of the things we have been doing this week (apart from sports day, reading café and the summer fair):

- Completing our last writing assessment
- Learning about globalisation, international trade, imports and exports
- Keeping up our arithmetic skills
- Reasoning problems
- Drawing death as a person in the style of Gustav Klimt
- Preparing animations
- Rehearsing, rehearsing and then again.

Reminders

Next week, transition begins—please keep us updated with any additional visits/changes, should they happen.

We would like all children in school at 1745 on Thursday PM for the performance –please reserve your ticks.

Please remember that all costumes need to be in on Monday.

The yearbooks are in production—please remember to pay before the end of term so that your child can receive theirs on the last day.

Please remember to order the afternoon tea, if your child would like it—it really is a lovely occasion.

Please remember that for the prom, photos are being requested—please could these be sent in to be given to Evie C. I'm sure that parents are most grateful to the organising committee for what I am sure will be a wonderful evening—I look forward to seeing the photographs.

Certificates
